Presenter	Presentation
Ailbhe Curran	Bilingual Education My experiences of bilingual education from learning and teaching in a Gaelscoil
Catherine Whelan catherinewhelan_3@hotmail.com @ms_whelansclass @WhelanCatherine	21st Century Teaching and Learning (Post Graduate Certificate @ Trinity College, Dublin.) The aim of this course is to equip teachers with the requisite knowledge, skills and competence to support the development of an innovative learning culture that is team-based, technology mediated, project-focused and cross curricular. It is intended that participant teachers will learn how to develop and lead a 'cultural change process' within the school community.
Geraldine McGowan geraldinemcgowan60@hotmail.com	NLP – Neuro Linguistic Processing Spelling: a strategy to teach spellings visually
John Farrell askeabns@iol.ie	Free Resources I have created a large bank of downloadable resources on our school blog at askeabns.wordpress.com . The most popular of these is a large editable database of general knowledge questions that are suitable for Irish primary schools. If time permits I would like to highlight other resources available on the bog such as Leabhair Gaeilge, Word Processing resources, Math language aides etc.
Karen Devine karendevine@pdst.ie	TSI We have recently introduced TSI (Transactional Strategies Instruction) in our senior classroom (5th & 6th Class). In TSI children work independently in small similar ability reading groups, having been first trained in the 3 key roles of Leader, Questioner and strategist. The children need to be familiar with the various comprehension strategies in advance.

Presenter	Presentation
Maeve Mc Cafferty mmccafferty@into.ie @MaeveCafferty	Wellbeing in the multi-grade classroom Presenting my experience of using yoga, breath awareness and mindfulness activities in the Multi-grade classroom
Pauric Bolton pauric.bolton@gmail.com	Kahoot! Kahoot! is an accessible online resource that brings fun into the classroom. It's extremely easy to use, can be a very useful assessment tool and can also facilitate collaborative learning. My students love using it and really engage with content. It can make a great opening or closing part of any lesson.
Tina Mc Laughlin d3sublist@gmail.com @Donegalsublist	Subs in the North West Information about a monthly list of available, qualified teachers currently in operation in the North West. Our sublist is run voluntarily and can have between 50-90 teachers on it each month. Schools are finding qualified teachers more easily and teachers are getting calls from schools they never knew existed.
Eimear Allen eimear.allen@yahoo.co.uk @eimear_allen	Creating a sensory garden in school This presentation outlines the benefits of creating a sensory garden in school and ideas and tips for teachers that are interested in establishing their own sensory outdoor space.

Teachmeet Ireland are looking for presenters to share ideas, resources and innovative projects for their next meeting in 2017! Are you interested? :-)
